DANIEL M. BRAZIER, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

INTRODUCTION

1. I have been a Special Agent with the Department of Homeland Security, Immigration and Customs Enforcement ("ICE") since September 2009. I am currently assigned to the Homeland Security Investigations Department within ICE's Special Agent in Charge - New York Office, where I am assigned to the Intellectual Property Rights Smuggling Group, which is responsible for investigating crimes such as commercial fraud, smuggling, and trafficking in counterfeit goods. Prior to my employment with ICE, I served as a police officer and detective. During the course of my career in law enforcement, I have received training regarding computer technology and intellectual property offenses, among other things.

2. I am familiar with the information contained in this affidavit based on my review of documents, conversations I have had with other individuals and law enforcement officers about this matter, and my training and experience. Because this affidavit is being submitted for the limited purpose of obtaining seizure warrants, I have not included in this affidavit the details of every aspect of the investigation. Where actions, conversations and statements of others are related herein, they are related in substance and in part, except where otherwise indicated.

3. I make this affidavit in support of the Government's application, pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Sections 2323(a)(1)(A)-(B) and 981, for warrants to seize the following domain names:

ROJADIRECTA.COM, registered with GoDaddy.com, Inc., 14455 N. Hayden Rd., Suite 219, Scottsdale, Arizona 85260;

(the "SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES").

4. The procedure by which the Government will seize the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES, including redirecting them to another website notifying users of the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES' seizure, is described in Attachment A hereto and below at paragraphs 42 et seq.

5. As set forth below, there is probable cause to believe that the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES are subject to seizure and forfeiture, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §§ 2323(a)(1)(A)-(B) as property used or intended to be used to commit or facilitate the commission of criminal infringement of copyrights in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 2319.

INTERNET DOMAIN NAMES

6. Based on my training and experience, as well as conversations with other agents, I know the following:

a. A domain name is a simple, easy-to-remember way for humans to identify computers on the Internet. For example, "www.usdoj.gov" and "www.yahoo.com" are domain names.

b. The Domain Name System ("DNS") is, among other things, a hierarchical convention for domain names. Domain names are composed of one or more parts, or "labels," that are delimited by periods, such as "www.example.com." The hierarchy of domains descends from right to left; each label to the left specifies a subdivision, or subdomain, of the domain on the right. The right-most label conveys the "top-level" domain. For example, the domain name "www.example.com" means that the computer assigned that name is in the ".com" top-level domain and the "example" second-level domain, and is a web server (denoted by the "www").

c. DNS servers are computers connected to the Internet that convert domain names that are easy for humans to remember into Internet Protocol ("IP") addresses, which are unique machine-readable numeric addresses that computers use to identify each other on the Internet. An IP address looks like a series of four numbers, each in the range of 0-255, separated by periods (e.g., 121.56.97.178). Every computer connection to the Internet must be assigned an IP address so that Internet traffic sent from and directed to that computer is directed properly from its source to its destination. DNS servers can be said to "resolve" or "translate" domain names into IP addresses.

d. For each top-level domain (such as ".com"), there is a single company, called a "registry," that determines which second-level domain resolves to which IP address. For example, the registry for the ".net," and ".com" top-level domains is VeriSign, Inc., 487 East Middlefield Road, Mountain View, CA 94043. The registry for the ".org" top-level domain is The Public Interest Registry, 1775 Wiehle Avenue, Suite 200, Reston, VA 20190 and the ".org" top-level domain is administered by Afillas USA, Inc., Building 3, Suite 105, 300 Welsh Road, Horsham, PA 19044.

e. If an individual or business wants to purchase a domain name, they buy it through a company called a "registrar." Network Solutions LLC ("Network Solutions") and GoDaddy.com Inc. ("GoDaddy") are two well-known examples of registrars, although there are hundreds of registrars on the Internet. The registrar, in turn, communicates this purchase to the relevant registry. The individual or business who purchases, or registers, a domain name is called a "registrant."

f. Registrants control the IP address, and thus the computer, to which the domain name resolves. Thus, a registrant may easily move a domain name to another computer anywhere in the world simply by changing the IP address at the registry.

g. Registries and/or registrars maintain additional information about domain names, including the name and contact information of the registrant.

THE INVESTIGATION

7. This application arises from an ongoing investigation into websites that illegally distribute copyright-protected content by streaming<sup>1</sup> over the Internet live sporting event telecasts and Pay-Per-View events. I know from my training and experience, as well as my participation in the investigation, that illegal streaming of copyrighted content is generally accomplished in one of three ways: (1) individuals capture the output of a television or set-top box and direct that output to a computer, where it is simultaneously and continuously encoded and uploaded in a "stream" to so-called illegal "streaming" websites; (2) individuals hack the authorized Internet streams of international rightsholders and then direct those streams to illegal streaming websites; and (3) a camcorder is pointed at a television or computer screen to capture the programming, which is then encoded and uploaded to illegal streaming websites.

<sup>1</sup> "Streaming" refers to a particular method by which media, in particular audio and video files, are delivered to users over the Internet. For purposes of this affidavit, "streamed" media is generally live content that is presented in real time and is generally available at one time only (e.g., during a sporting event).

8. I know from my participation in the investigation that the holder of the copyrights in and to all television broadcasts and footage of a particular athletic event is the associated individual sports league. The sports leagues relevant to this affidavit are the National Football League (the "NFL"), the National Basketball Association (the "NBA"), the National Hockey League (the "NHL"), World Wrestling Entertainment (the "WWE") and Ultimate Fighting Championship (the "UFC") (collectively, the "Leagues"). The U.S. Copyright Act, Title 17, United States Code, Sections 101, et seq., gives the holder of such copyrights various exclusive rights, including the right to control public performances and distribution of the works. In turn, the Leagues enter into contractual arrangements with television networks such as NBC and ESPN, which pay the Leagues fees for the rights to broadcast telecasts of their copyrighted sporting events.

9. Based on my participation in the investigation, I know that the Leagues suffer significant negative impact from the unauthorized streaming of live television programming. Among other things, online piracy of live sporting event telecasts threatens the investment that broadcasters and digital media companies are willing to make to distribute live content, the Leagues' ability to sell game tickets and secure local television and radio carriage, and the value of advertising revenue generated by broadcast, radio and new media partners. Moreover, with respect to Pay-Per-View events, it is estimated that millions of dollars in revenue are lost by copyright holders each year from the illegal streaming of their content over the Internet through such websites, which enables unauthorized viewers to watch the event live in the same quality and with the same ease as those who lawfully purchased the content through Pay-Per-View.

10. In response to such piracy, both the Leagues and the broadcasting networks invest significant amounts to monitor such rampant acts of theft and provide notices to Internet service providers and website operators to take down illegally posted content. As demonstrated below, these take down notices are often ineffective, yet the costs of these efforts are passed on to sports fans and consumers when they purchase tickets or subscribe to sports networks.

11. Based on my participation in the investigation, I have learned that the problem of piracy of live sports broadcasting over the Internet is particularly pernicious in light of the fact that the value of the of the copyright holder's content is extremely perishable. There is significant value to consumers of being able to access that content while the event is still in progress. Indeed, unlike other video content offered online, including television programs and motion pictures, which often remain popular well after its debut; sports fans' interest in viewing live sporting events is greatest while the event is happening. In addition, some sporting events - such as wrestling and boxing - involve bouts that can be over in a matter of a few minutes. Thus, even if a website is notified by a copyright holder of the infringement and takes the infringing content down within 15 minutes, the damage is already done because the pirated telecast has already been seen and all of the value of the live content has been extracted.

12. Many of the websites that are involved in the illegal distribution of copyright-protected content over the Internet may be divided into two classes: "linking" websites and "cyberlocker" websites.<sup>2</sup> All of the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES are "linking" websites.

13. I know from my participation in the investigation that "linking" websites generally collect and catalog links<sup>3</sup> to files

<sup>2</sup> "Cyberlocker" websites allow users to upload infringing content and often feature high-capacity data connections that allow users conveniently to download or stream that content relatively quickly. Cyberlocker websites also may allow users to search for and download specific content directly without first going through a linking site. Finally, a cyberlocker may use different servers to host its webpage, receive uploads, and handle downloading or streaming content. Each computer server connected to the Internet is identified by one or more IP addresses.

<sup>3</sup> For purposes of this affidavit, a "link" is code which specifies a particular webpage or file on the Internet. If on third party websites that contain illegal copies of copyrighted content, including sporting events and Pay-Per-View events. Linking websites organize these links by, for example, sports type or sporting event, to make them easily accessible. Users simply click on a link to begin the process of downloading or streaming to their own computer an illegal broadcast of a sporting event or Pay-Per-View event from the third party website that is hosting the stream. Linking websites are popular because they allow users to quickly browse content and locate illegal streams that would otherwise be more difficult to find through manual searches of the Internet. Linking websites also often allow users to post links to infringing content.

14. The investigation has identified ten linking websites that are among the most popular such websites on the Internet for illegally distributing copyrighted sporting events and/or Pay-Per-View events. These websites are: (1) Hq-Streams.com; (2) Hq-Streams.net; (3) Atdhe.net; (4) Firstrow.net; (5) Channelsurfing.net; (6) Iilemi.com; (7) Iilemi.com; (8) Iilemii.com; (9) Rojadirecta.org; and (10) Rojadirecta.com.

clicked on by a user, a link can, for example, bring up the relevant web page in an Internet browser or run a program. For example, "<http://movies.nytimes.com/2010/06/18/movies/18toy.html?scp=1&sq=toy%20story%203&st=cse>" is a link to a webpage containing the New York Times' review of the movie "Toy Story 3." A "link" may also be referred to as a "Uniform Resource Locator" or "URL."

PROBABLE CAUSE FOR SEIZURE AND FORFEITURE

15. During the course of the investigation I and other ICE agents have reviewed the below linking sites using computers located in the borough of Manhattan in New York, New York, as well as in Westchester County, New York, and have used those websites to stream portions of copyrighted broadcasts of sporting events and/or Pay-Per-View events.

The Hq-Streams.com and Hq-Streams.net Websites

16. Based on my review of webpages that are available at the Hq-Streams.com and the Hq-Streams.net websites, I have learned the following:

a. When an Internet user accesses either the Hq-Streams.com website or the Hq-Streams.net website, that user is directed to a main page, which is the same for either of the URLs and which carry the same IP address. Regardless of whether the user has typed "Hq-Streams.com" or "Hq-Streams.net" to access the website, the URL displayed by the main page is always "Hq-Streams.com" (hereafter, the website will be referred to as "Hq-Streams"). Hq-Streams is a "linking" website dedicated to wrestling. The website's main page requires the user to set up an account, albeit at no cost. After the user creates an account and logs in, the user is brought to the homepage, upon which there are eleven categories of links to various chat rooms and live streams of broadcast or Pay-Per-View wrestling events. (A copy of the Hq-Streams homepage as it appeared on or about January 31, 2011 is attached as Exhibit A). These live streams are either of wrestling matches that are being telecast in that particular moment in time by a certain broadcaster, or were previously recorded and are being played on a continuous loop.

b. The Hq-Streams website houses numerous "channels," each displaying various wrestling and Pay-Per-View events that change on a daily basis. On or about January 24, 2011, for example, Channels 1-5 and Channel 9 were streaming previous wrestling matches from WWE, and Channels 6-8 and Channel 10 were off air. Based on my conversations with representatives of the WWE, I know that as of January 24, 2011, all of the wrestling events offered on this website were copyrighted, and that the copyright holders did not authorize their third party distribution over the Internet by Hq-Streams.

c. By selecting one of the channels available on the Hq-Streams website, an embedded video displays a wrestling program, whose content is running on a stream from another website and is linked to the Hq-Streams website. Because the sporting event is running on a live stream, a user watches from whatever point in the stream the sporting event is currently running.

d. During the streaming event, advertisements are periodically displayed at the bottom of the video. Depending on the chosen link, a viewer may be required to view an advertisement before viewing the selected sporting event. I know from my participation in the investigation that companies which place advertisements on a website typically pay a fee to the website's owner based on, among other things, the number of website users who view the ad, as well as the number of times users click on the ad. Both of these figures depend on, among other things, the website's popularity and its overall number of users.

e. In addition to revenue generated by advertisements, the Hq-Streams website also profits by offering its users the option of purchasing an "elite stream." If purchased, the website claims that there will be "no lag time and no shutdowns streamed from [the website's] private servers." A three-day pass costs $3.00, a one month pass costs $12.00, and a three month pass costs $25.00.

f. Based on my review of public records, I know that the Hq-Streams.com and Hq-Streams.net websites are hosted on a computer assigned the IP address 85.17.120.217, which is hosted at an Internet Service Provider in the Netherlands.

Captures of Infringing Content Via Hq-Streams.com

17. I have spoken with other ICE agents who have used the Hq-Streams.com website to stream illegal telecasts of sporting events and/or Pay-Per-View events. According to the agents, on or about the dates listed in the chart below, they clicked on links for the below-listed events on the Hq-Streams.com website, and streamed portions of the selected events in a manner that indicated that the entire event had been made available to users<sup>4</sup> (the "Captures").

<sup>4</sup> Agents involved in the investigation viewed portions of the stream at various intervals during the event, rather than the entirety of the stream.

18. Based on my conversations with representatives of WWE, I know that as of January 25, 2011, all of the aforementioned events were copyrighted, and that the copyright holders did not authorize their third party distribution over the Internet by Hq-Streams.com.

Captures of Infringing Content Via Hq-Streams.net

19. I have spoken with other ICE agents who have used the Hq-Streams.net website, redirected to the Hq-Streams.com main page, to stream illegal telecasts of sporting events and/or Pay-Per-View events. According to the agents, on or about the dates listed in the chart below, they clicked on links for the below-listed events on the Hq-Streams.com website, after initially entering the Hq-Streams.net website address, and streamed portions of the selected events in a manner that indicated that the entire event had been made available to users.

Date	Event Viewed	Duration of Captures
January 19, 2011	Archive (01/17/11): WWE Raw	0 hr 17 min 07 sec
January 19, 2011	Channel 2: WWE Royal Rumble	0 hr 15 min 18 sec

20. Based on my conversations with representatives of WWE, I know that as of January 25, 2011, all of the aforementioned events were copyrighted, and that the copyright holders did not authorize their third party distribution over the Internet by Hq-Streams.net.

The Atdhe.net Website

21. Based on my review of webpages that are available at the Atdhe.net website, I have learned the following:

a. Atdhe.net is a "linking" website. When users access the Atdhe.net website, they are brought to the homepage, which provides links to certain television and movie content, as well as daily live sporting and Pay-Per-View events. (Copies of portions of the Atdhe.net homepage as it appeared on or about January 31, 2011 are attached as Exhibit B). Once a user selects a link, that user is taken to a new window. An advertisement video plays before a user can view the selected program. Because the event runs on a live stream, the user watches from whatever point in the stream the broadcast is presently at.

b. On or about December 20, 2010, for example, when agents involved in the investigation selected a link for the sporting event entitled "Chicago Bears vs. Minnesota Vikings," a new window opened and the broadcast of that NFL game began to stream live in the window, the top of which displayed "ATDHE.NET, You are watching Chicago Bears vs. Minnesota Vikings, NFL Week 15." Based on my conversations with representatives of the NFL, I know that as of December 20, 2010, this football game was copyrighted, and the NFL did not authorize the third party distribution of that sporting event over the Internet by Atdhe.net.

c. Several broadcasting networks are also listed as links on the Atdhe.net webpage. For example, on or about December 22, 2010, the following links were listed: MSNBC, CNBC, ESPN and NFL Network. On or about December 22, 2010, at approximately 9:48 a.m. EST, when agents involved in the investigation selected the MSNBC link, a live stream video appeared of the current programming that was being played on an authorized broadcast of MSNBC, on that particular date at that particular time. Based on my conversations with representatives of MSNBC, I know that as of December 22, 2010, MSNBC had not authorized third party distribution over the Internet of its broadcasts by Atdhe.net.

d. The links displayed on the Atdhe.net website for various live sporting and Pay-Per-View events changes on a daily basis. The links for sporting events are added as the day progresses and the events' starting times are closer. The links are displayed with the starting time (Eastern Standard Time) for each of the events to the left of the link. Several of the live sporting events listed often have more than one link displayed.

e. Under the heading "Terms of Service," the Atdhe.net website displays the following, among other things:

We DO NOT host any videos on this website.
All videos found on our site are found freely available around the web on sites such as Justin.tv, Ustream.tv, Selfcast, etc. We

We are not affiliated nor claim to be affiliated with any of the owners of videos/streams played on our site. All content is copyright of their respective owners.

We urge all copyright owners, to recognize that links contained within this site are located somewhere else on the web. The embedded link points to the location of the video on the web. Please direct all copyright infringement issues to the companies that host these files (Justin.tv, Ustream.tv, Freedocast, etc.).

Also found under the "Terms of Service" header is a section entitled "Liabilities," which states, in pertinent part:

22. I have reviewed Alexa.com rankings for the Atdhe.net website, and I have learned that as of on or about January 27, 2011, Alexa.com ranked the Atdhe.net website as the 664th most popular website in the world, and the 517th most popular website in the United States.<sup>5</sup> According to Compete.com, the number of unique visitors to Atdhe.net has increased from approximately copyright holders did not authorize their third party distribution over the Internet by Atdhe.net.

The Firstrow.net Website

26. Based on my review of webpages that are available at the Firstrow.net website, I have learned the following:

a. Firstrow.net is a "linking" website. When users access the Firstrow.net website, they are brought to the homepage, which provides various links to television sports channels, daily live sporting events, and Pay-Per-View events. Numerous advertisements are present in various locations on the homepage as well. (Copies of portions of the Firstrow.net homepage as it appeared on or about January 31, 2011 are attached as Exhibit C). Links to the following sports are displayed on the Firstrow.net homepage: Football, American Football, Basketball, Ice Hockey, Boxing - WWE - UFC, Tennis, Motorsport, Rugby, Darts, Snooker, Golf, Aussie Rules, and Handball. The website's various live sporting events, television programs, movie channel and Pay-Per-View events all change on a daily basis. Moreover, each sport-specific link is also updated daily.

b. On the top of the homepage, the words "FIRST ROW" appear and there are eight links displayed underneath. When a user clicks one of the sport specific links (e.g., football), the sport appears with that day's schedule and the words, "In this section you can see football live and free." When a program is selected, the content begins to run; because the event runs on a live stream, the user watches from whatever point in the stream the broadcast is presently at.

c. On January 3, 2011, when agents involved in the investigation selected a link for "1/03/2011 National Hockey League (NHL) Boston Bruins vs. Toronto Maple Leafs," a new window opened and the broadcast of that NHL game began to stream live in the window, the top of which displayed, "FIRSTROW.NET." Based on my conversations with representatives of the NHL, I know that as of January 3, 2011, this hockey game was copyrighted, and the NHL did not authorize the third party distribution of that sporting event over the Internet by Firstrow.net.

d. In addition, on or about January 14, 2011, at approximately 1:45 p.m. EST, when agents involved in the investigation selected a Fox News TV channel link, a live stream video appeared of the current programming that was being played on an authorized broadcast of Fox News, on that particular date at that particular time. Advertisements were periodically displayed at the bottom of the video, as the user viewed the live stream. Based on my conversations with representatives of Fox News, I know that as of January 14, 2011, Fox News had not authorized third party distribution over the Internet of its broadcasts by Firstrow.net.

27. Based on my review of publically available records, I know that the Firstrow.net website is hosted on a computer server assigned IP address 80.67.5.103, which is hosted at an Internet Service Provider in Sweden.

all of the aforementioned events were copyrighted, and that the copyright holders did not authorize their third party distribution over the Internet by Firstrow.net.

The Channelsurfing.net Website

30. Based on my review of webpages that are available at the Channelsurfing.net website, I have learned the following:

a. Channelsurfing.net is a "linking" website. When a user accesses the Channelsurfing.net website, the user is brought to the homepage, which provides links to television and movie content, as well as daily live sporting events and Pay-Per-View events. (Copies of portions of the Channelsurfing.net homepage as it appeared on or about January 31, 2011 are attached as Exhibit D). In addition, numerous advertisements are displayed on various locations of the homepage.

b. On a day-to-day basis, the links for some of the television programs and broadcast channels change very little. In fact, the following appear to be listed on a consistent, daily basis: "South Park," "The Office," "The Poker Channel," "ESPN," "MSNBC," "CNBC," and "Fox News." Each of these links have the word "live" displayed adjacent to the link and the logo for the corresponding network or television show is also displayed. By selecting one of these links, the user is taken to a new Channelsurfing.net window, which displays the selected television content or program. Because the content is running on a live stream from another website, the selected show does not start at the beginning of the program, but rather runs from whatever point in the stream the show is presently at. In addition, advertisements are periodically displayed at the bottom of the video during the live stream; these advertisements are separate and distinct from any commercials that may appear during the stream of the sporting event broadcast.

c. In addition, a number of the links displayed on the Channelsurfing.net webpage for various live sporting events, television programs, and Pay-Per-View events change on a daily basis. The links for sporting events are added as the day progresses and an event's starting time draws closer. To the left of each of the sporting events or television programs is the corresponding league or broadcast company logo, including "NBC," "CBS," "ABC," "ESPN," "NHL," "NBA," and "NCAA." The logos and Eastern Standard broadcast times appear to be accurate for the programming on that particular day.

d. For example, on or about January 5, 2011, at approximately 4:28 p.m. EST, when agents involved in the investigation selected an MSNBC channel link, a live stream video appeared of the current programming that was being played on an authorized broadcast of MSNBC, on that particular date at that particular time. Based on my conversations with representatives of MSNBC, I know that as of January 5, 2011, MSNBC had not authorized third party distribution over the Internet of its broadcasts by Channelsurfing.net.

e. Also, by way of example, on January 1, 2011, when agents involved in the investigation selected a link for "UFC - Resolution 10:00 PM EST 1/1," a new window opened and the Pay-Per-View broadcast of that UFC match began to stream live in the window, the top of which displayed, "UFC 125 - WWW.CHANNELSURFING.NET." Based on my conversations with representatives of the UFC, I know that as of January 1, 2011, this match was copyrighted, and the UFC did not authorize the third party distribution of that Pay-Per-View match over the Internet by Channelsurfing.net.

f. Under the heading "Terms of Service," the Channelsurfing.net website displays the following, among other things:

We DO NOT host any videos on this website. All videos found on our site are found freely available around the web on sites such as Justin.tv, Ustream.tv, Selfcast, etc. We make no guarantees or promises in our service and take no liability for our users actions. We are not affiliated nor claim to be affiliated with any of the owners of videos/streams played on our site. All content is copyright of their respective owners.

We urge all copyright owners, to recognize that links contained within this site are located somewhere else on the web. The embedded link points to the location of the video on the web. Please direct all copyright infringement issues to the companies that host these files (Justin.tv, Ustream.tv, Freedocast, etc.).

Also found under the "Terms of Service" header is a section entitled "Liabilities," which states, in pertinent part:

The material on the website is designed to comply with Swedish law and we cannot be held responsible for any non-compliance with applicable local laws in any other jurisdiction.

g. I know from public records that the Channelsurfing.net website is hosted on a computer assigned the IP address 89.248.174.98, which is hosted at an Internet Service Provider in the Netherlands.

32. Based on my conversations with representatives of UFC, NFL, NBA, NHL, and WWE, I know that as of January 25, 2011, all of the aforementioned events were copyrighted, and that the copyright holders did not authorize their third party distribution over the Internet by Channelsurfing.net.

The Ilemi.com, Iilemi.com, and Iilemii.com Websites

33. Based on my review of webpages that are available at the Ilemi.com, the Iilemi.com, and Iilemii.com websites, I have learned the following:

a. When an Internet user accesses the Ilemi.com website, the Iilemi.com website, or the Iilemii.com website, that user is directed to a main page, which is the same for all of the URLs and which carry the same IP address. Regardless of whether the user has typed "Ilemi.com," "Iilemi.com," or "Iilemii.com" to access the website, the URL displayed by the main page is always "Ilemi.com". (hereafter, the website will be referred to as "Ilemi"). Ilemi is a "linking" website. When a user accesses the Ilemi website, the user is brought to the homepage, which provides links to television and movie content, as well as daily live sporting events and Pay-Per-View events. In addition, numerous advertisements are displayed in various locations of the homepage. (Copies of portions of the Ilemi homepage as it appeared on or about January 31, 2011 are attached as Exhibit E).

b. On a day-to-day basis, the links for some of the television programs and broadcast channels change very little. In fact, the following appear to be listed on a consistent, daily basis: "Movie Channel," "Canal de Peliculas," "ESPN," "ESPN Deportes," "The Office," "House," "MSNBC," "South Park," "Telefe," "UFC Channel," "Poker Channel," "NFL Network." In addition, at the top of the homepage, the words "Live Sports Free" appear and five links are displayed under these words. Three of those links include the word "live" displayed prominently next to the link. By selecting one of these links, the user is taken to a new Ilemi window, which displays the selected television content or program. Because the content is running on a live stream from another website, the selected show does not start at the beginning of the program, but rather runs from whatever point in the stream the show is presently at. In addition, advertisements are periodically displayed at the bottom of the video during the live stream; these advertisements are separate and distinct from any commercials that may appear during the stream of the sporting event broadcast.

c. On or about January 1, 2011, for example, when agents involved in the investigation selected a link for the Pay-Per-View event entitled "UFC - Resolution 04:00 CET

1/1/2011," a new window opened and the Pay-Per-View broadcast of that UFC match began to stream live in the window, the top of which displayed, "ILEMI.COM, You Are Watching UFC 125: Resolution - UFC PPV." Based on my conversations with representatives of the UFC, I know that as of January 1, 2011, this match was copyrighted, and the UFC did not authorize the third party distribution of that Pay-Per-View event over the Internet by the Ilemi website.

d. Several broadcasting networks are also listed as links on the Ilemi website. For example, on or about January 6, 2011, at approximately 2:40 p.m. EST, when agents involved in the investigation selected an MSNBC link, a live stream video appeared of the current programming that was being played on an authorized broadcast of MSNBC, on that particular date at that particular time. Based on my conversations with representatives of MSNBC, I know that as of January 6, 2011, MSNBC had not authorized third party distribution over the Internet of its broadcasts by the Ilemi website.

e. The links displayed on the Ilemi website for various live sporting events, television programs, a movie channel, and Pay-Per-View events change on a daily basis. The links and times for sporting events are added as the day progresses. The broadcast times appear to be accurate for the programming on that particular day.

f. Under the heading "Terms of Service," the Ilemi website displays the following, among other things:

We DO NOT host any videos on this website. All videos found on our site are found freely available around the web on sites such as Justin.tv, Ustream.tv, Selfcast, etc. We make no guarantees or promises in our service and take no liability for our users actions. The Rojadirecta.org and Rojadirecta.com Websites

40. Based on my review of webpages that are available at the Rojadirecta.org website, I have learned the following:

a. When an Internet user accesses either the Rojadirecta.org website or the Rojadirecta.com website, that user is directed to a main page, which is the same for either of the URLs and which carry the same IP address. The only difference in the main page is that the URL will either display "Rojadirecta.org" or "Rojadirecta.com" in the address bar, depending solely on which name the user typed to access the website (hereafter, the website will be referred to as "Rojadirecta"). Rojadirecta is a "linking" website. The website provides links to daily live sporting events and Pay-Per-View events, as well as downloadable sporting events or Pay-

Per-View events that were previously aired. The homepage displays three general categories of links that may be employed for viewing: (1) "Today On Internet TV"; (2) "Download Last Full Matches"; and (3) "Last Video Highlights." Links for daily sporting events are displayed under the "Today On Internet TV" category header. (A copy of the Rojadirecta homepage as it appeared on or about January 31, 2011 is attached as Exhibit F).

b. The links displayed for various live sporting events and Pay-Per-View events change on a daily basis. The links for sporting events are added as the day progresses and an event's starting time draws closer. The sporting events and their starting times correspond to individual leagues' official events and starting times.

c. After selecting an individual link, the user is taken to a new Rojadirecta.org window, which displays the selected program. Because the content is running on a live stream from another website, the selected show does not start at the beginning of the program, but rather runs from whatever point in the stream the show is presently at. Advertisements are periodically displayed at the bottom of the video during the live stream; these advertisements are separate and distinct from any commercials that may appear during the stream of the sporting event broadcast.

d. On or about January 12, 2011, at approximately 8:41 p.m., when agents participating in the investigation selected the link for "7:30 p.m. Hockey (NHL): Pittsburgh - Montreal," agents were given the option of several different links to choose for that individual sporting event. The links displayed the type of link, the name of the broadcasting station (e.g., "ESPN"), the language, and the type of Internet player. Once a specific link option was selected, the agents were brought to a new Rojadirecta webpage, and the live NHL broadcast of the Pittsburgh Penguins vs. Montreal Canadians hockey game began. The broadcast was shown in real time and was the same broadcast as the authorized broadcast of that same event. Based on my conversations with representatives of the NHL, I know that as of January 12, 2011, the NHL had not authorized third party distribution over the Internet of its broadcasts by Rojadirecta.

e. According to Alexa.com, as of on or about January 27, 2011, the Rojadirecta.org website was the 2,380th most popular website in the world and the 119th most popular website in Spain. According to Compete.com, the number of monthly unique visitors to the Rojadirecta.org website has increased from 44,623 in or about February 2010 to 96,986 in or about December 2010.

f. According to Alexa.com, as of on or about January 27, 2011, Rojadirecta.com was the 2,326th most popular website in the world and the 109th most popular website in Spain. According to Compete.com, the number of monthly unique visitors to Rojadirecta.com has increased from 67,476 in or about February 2010 to 99,316 in or about November 2010.

g. Based on my review of public records, I know that the Rojadirecta.org and Rojadirecta.com websites are hosted on a computer assigned the IP address 67.212.67.250, which is hosted at an Internet Service Provider in Canada.

STATUTORY BASES FOR SEIZURE AND FORFEITURE

45. The statutory provisions pursuant to which the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES are subject to seizure and forfeiture are as follows:

a. Title 18 U.S.C. §§ 2323(a)(1)(A)-(B) subjects to forfeiture, inter alia, "[a]ny article, the making or trafficking of which is, prohibited under section . . . 2319 [or] . . . 2319B [or] . . . [a]ny property used, or intended to be used, in any manner or part to commit or facilitate the commission" of those offenses.

b. Title 18 U.S.C. § 2323(a)(2) further states that the provisions of chapter 46 relating to civil forfeitures, which includes 18 U.S.C. § 981, shall extend to any seizure or civil forfeiture under Section 2323. Title 18 U.S.C. § 981(b)(1) states in relevant part that any property subject to forfeiture to the United States may be seized by the Attorney General.

c. The first statutory provision pursuant to which the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES are subject to seizure and forfeiture, Title 18, United States Code, Section 2319(a), provides that, "[a]ny person who violates section 506(a) (relating to criminal offenses) of title 17" is guilty of a crime. Title 17, United States Code, Section 506(a) states, in relevant part, the following:

Any person who willfully infringes a copyright shall be punished as provided under section 2319 of title 18, if the infringement was committed--

(A) for purposes of commercial advantage or private financial gain;

(B) by the reproduction or distribution, including by electronic means, during any 180-day period, of 1 or more copies or phonorecords of 1 or more copyrighted works, which have a total retail value of more than $1,000; or

(C) by the distribution of a work being prepared for commercial distribution, by making it available on a computer network accessible to members of the public, if such person knew or should have known that the work was intended for commercial distribution.

46. Here, there is probable cause to believe that the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES are subject to forfeiture because they have been used to commit and facilitate criminal copyright infringement and contain evidence of that crime.

47. By reason of the above, I respectfully request that the Court issue a seizure warrant pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 981 for the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES.

SEIZURE AND FORFEITURE PROCEDURE

48. As detailed in Attachment A, upon execution of the seizure warrant, the registry for the ".net," and ".com," top-level domains, VeriSign, Inc., 487 East Middlefield Road, Mountain View, CA 94043 ("VeriSign"), and the registry for the .org top-level domain, The Public Interest Registry, 1775 Wiehle Avenue, Suite 200, Reston, VA 20190, in addition the administrator for the ".org" top-level domain, Afillas USA, Inc., Building 3, Suite 105, 300 Welsh Road, Horsham, PA 19044, shall be directed to restrain and lock the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES pending transfer of all right, title, and interest in the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES to the United States upon completion of forfeiture proceedings, to ensure that changes to the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES cannot be made absent court order or, if forfeited to the United States, without prior consultation with ICE.

49. In addition, upon seizure of the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES by ICE, VeriSign and The Public Interest Registry will be directed to point the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES to a particular IP address, which will display a web page notifying users that the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES have been seized.

50. Registrars also maintain certain records relating to the owner of each domain name for which it is the registrar, including the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES (the "Domain Name Records"). Certain of these records are available to the public through a "Whois" lookup through a web browser, among other means. At the time the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES are seized, the relevant registrars will be directed to change the "Technical Contact" and "Administrative Contact" fields of the Domain Name Records for the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES to contact information relating to ICE to reflect the fact that the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES have been seized; and to change the name server fields of the Domain Name Records to effect the forgoing changes. All other fields will be changed so that they do not reflect any individual or entity.

51. Upon completion of forfeiture proceedings, all Domain Name Records for the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES maintained by the registrars will be changed to reflect the transfer of ownership to the United States.

CONCLUSION

52. Accordingly, a civil seizure warrant is authorized under 18 U.S.C. §§ 2323(a)(1)(A)-(B) and 981(b) because the SUBJECT DOMAIN NAMES are property used and intended to be used to commit and facilitate the commission of criminal infringement of copyrights.

54. By reason of the above, I respectfully request that the Court issue a seizure warrant pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §§ 2323(a)(1)(A)-(B) and 981(b).
